

Brief description of the specialist degree program 38.05.01 Economic security

Profession

Economic security is a highly demanded and complex profession. It includes a combination of economic and legal aspects. The responsibilities include the diagnosis and analysis of economic and statistical indicators characterizing activities of subjects; risk assessment of economic activities and the development based on the results of the analysis of reasonable measures to ensure the economic security of enterprises and organizations.

Educational process

The educational process includes both holding classical lectures and seminars, as well as participation in master classes conducted by leading experts of the real sector of economy in the field of economic security. The curriculum includes the study of a legal component of ensuring economic security of subjects, as well as an increased load of physical education. Such provision of the educational process allows students to acquire a wide range of professional knowledge in the field of detection and prevention of crime in economics during the course of study; protection of private, state and municipal forms of ownership; creating conditions and providing guarantees for entrepreneurial activity; assessing the economic efficiency of projects, modeling economic processes in order to analyze and predict threats to economic security.

Disciplines

- ✓ Economics of organizations (enterprises)
- ✓ History of economic thought
- ✓ State regulation of the economy
- ✓ Comprehensive provision of the organization's economic security
- ✓ Economic analysis
- ✓ Shadow economy
- ✓ Economic security
- ✓ Foreign economic security
- ✓ Organization and methods of tax audits
- ✓ Planning and forecasting in the national economy
- ✓ Forensics
- ✓ Criminal law
- ✓ General economic security
- ✓ Organization and methods of tax audits
- ✓ Institutional economics

Practical training

The educational program includes three types of practical trainings.

The goals of the practical trainings are to consolidate and deepen the knowledge gained in the process of studying general theoretical and special disciplines, to acquire practical research skills and special knowledge to ensure economic security of organizations (enterprises), regions, and the state to solve specific problems in accordance with the theme of final qualifying work.

All types of practical trainings are carried out in various organizations and enterprises.

Career

The profession allows a specialist to get many advantages and opportunities when looking for a job. Employers note that they appreciate the systematization and breadth of their knowledge.

Graduates of the “Economic Security” program are employed in enterprises of various organizational and legal forms, including departments for ensuring economic security of commercial enterprises, internal control services of budgetary and commercial organizations, territorial tax authorities, and banking structures as:

- economic security specialists;
- heads of economic security services;
- analysts;
- tax inspectors;
- specialists of anti-corruption divisions.